

Methods and Materials for Teaching ESOL

Course description: This 5 PLU course is intended to provide participants with an understanding of theory, methods, and materials for teaching and assessing learners of English as a new language in U.S. schools.

Course Goals:

- To understand the relationship between second language acquisition theory and teaching methodology
- To gain proficiency in designing and implementing language teaching methods and materials

To gain proficiency in assessing English language development and in applying information regarding students' level of English development to design and deliver effective instruction